REMARKS

Reconsideration and allowance of the above-referenced application are respectfully requested.

Numerous claims stand rejected under 35 USC 102 and/or 103 as being unpatentable over Auer, and/or Tymes. In response, and after reviewing the case in detail, Applicants have herewith substantially narrowed the issues. This has been done by deleting the independent claims 22 and 23, and amending the remaining independent claims 1 and 21 to recite the subject matter of the embodiment described on page 13, lines 5-15, specifically, that the information for display is sent in bursts to update the display, but yet the displays provides a continuous display of the information. This is in no way taught or suggested by any of the cited prior art, and hence this obviates the rejection.

The claimed subject matter is very different than the teaching of Auer and teaches conventional kinds of information being sent from the video controller to the display. these claim amendments are completely different than anything taught by the prior art, and patently distinguishable thereover.

It is believed that all of the pending claims have been addressed in this paper. However, failure to address a specific rejection, issue or comment, does not signify agreement with or concession of that rejection, issue or comment. In addition, because the arguments made above are not intended to be exhaustive, there may be reasons for patentability of any or all pending claims (or other claims) that have not been expressed. Finally, nothing in this paper should be construed as an intent to concede any issue with regard to any claim, except as specifically stated in this paper, and the amendment of any claim does not necessarily signify concession of unpatentability of the claim prior to its amendment.

In view of the above amendments and remarks, therefore, all of the claim should be in condition for allowance. A formal notice to that effect is respectfully solicited.
